Note: Nursing Homes are facilities for individuals who require skilled nursing care and are no longer able to function in a less restrictive setting. Nurses and aides are available 24 hours a day. Continual Care Retirement Communities (CCRC) offer a continuum of residential care settings with a single campus site. Independent living is offered with a combination of leisure, social, and supportive services. If additional care is needed, personal care services are available. Community Based Residential Facilities (CBRF) or group homes, provide an alternative living environment for individuals who need assistance but do not need the level of care given in nursing homes. CBRF's offer meals, laundry, housekeeping, medication monitoring, assistance with dressing and bathing, 24-hour staff, and organized activities. Residential Care Apartment Complex's (RCAC) do not include nursing home care or community based residential care, but may be physically part of a structure that is a nursing home or community based residential facility.
